

CYBER AWARE

Part of the Consult product family

The Service

With malware becoming more sophisticated your users need to be able to distinguish between a legitimate e-mail and one that could be potentially harmful. A surprisingly high number of people do not know what phishing is, but this all boils down to education and training.

Cyber Aware has been created with businesses in mind. We start off with an initial consultation to find out a bit more about your business and any potential risks. We then put together a tailored training programme for your business.

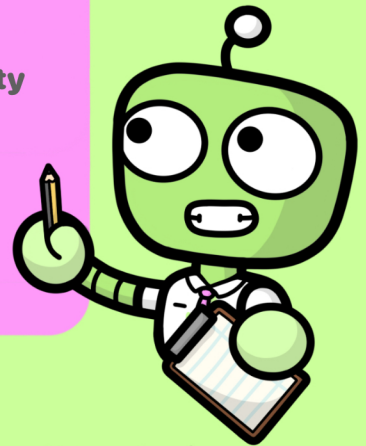

If you're unsure whether Cyber Aware is right for you, then we have created a very easy to follow 'Cyber Risk Calculator' with some fundamental questions about your current security measures.
